A Wonderful Escape

NANTICOKE, Pa., February 9.—One of the most dramatic events that has occurred in the coal mining region of this section for many years was the rescue this morning of the three men John Rice, William Cragle and Michael Gray from the flooded mine in which they have been imprisoned since last Wednesday. On that day five men, the three above named and two others, Thomas Lewis and Daniel Davis, were at work for the Susquehanna Coal company. They were engaged in robbing pillars in an abandoned portion of the mine. In this chamber Lewis and Davis were at work and to loosen the coal resorted to a blast. The explosion rent asunder the walls separating the chamber in which they were engaged from the old abandoned working which has been used for storing water. The imprisoned water burst through the great hole made by the blast in a furious torrent which nothing could resist. Lewis and Davis were carried off their feet and tossed about like corks. Even heavy coal cars were lifted and whirled before the flood as though they had been chips. Lewis and Davis fortunately were swept to the gangway, here they got a footing with the flood tearing after them. They fled for their lives. At one time the water enveloped them up to their necks but they made a final desparing struggle to get beyond its clutches. Davis and Lewis were saved, but their three companions were left behind. There was hardly a ray of hope that they could be alive.

There was just a chance that they might have got an elevated foothold beyond the reach of the water. Those who first suggested it were thought to be half mad, but still it was a ghost of a chance and rescuers set to work with all the fury of energy with which miners go to the rescue of their comrades not knowing how soon their time may come to need a like effort on their behalf. Night and day the work has gone on.

Even if the men escaped drowning there was small chance of their escaping suffocation from the foul air. Day after day passed and though the energy of the rescuers never lagged, their hopes were well nigh dead. At an early hour this morning, however, their growing despair was turned to wild joy. From far back in the mine there came a faint cry. For a moment the men ceased their work. They could hardly believe their own ears. Then again as they stood breathless the weak, faint voices were heard. The answer was a wild cry, and with a sort of blind fury the men fell at their work again. At 3 o'clock this morning the voice could be distinctly heard and words could be made out. The three men were alive and they were unhurt. "But for God's sake hurry."

No urging was needed. In a few minutes the rescuers were almost within touch of them. A raft was made and on it a party of men groped their way in the darkness to the little cramped space in which the three poor fellows had spent their five horrible days. In a little hole in the top of the cross heading they were found. The water was almost up to their very feet. In a jiffy they were pulled down and on to the raft and after a few minutes they were out in the sunlight with their comrades hugging them and kissing them like men who were welcoming the dead to life again.

There have been many touching scenes around the black mouths of the mines hereabouts, but seldom one that moved men's hearts more than did the wild demonstration over these poor rescued miners. They are heroes of the day and for a long time to come, until some other great disaster has overshadowed their adventure, they will have to tell over and over again the story of those five awful days of darkness and despair.

Curiously enough they did not suffer greatly from hunger. Their greatest misery, after their mental agony, was from thirst and their cramped position in which they were forced to sit. Milk was given them to drink and they quickly recovered their strength. It was after 2 o'clock this morning before it was thought they were sufficiently strong to be carried to their homes.

Trains Snow Bound in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., February 9.—The worst blizzard that has been experienced in Wyoming for four years has been raging for the last twenty four hours. Stockmen are apprehensive of severe losses of range cattle. No west bound trains reached Cheyenne yesterday over the Union Pacific or the Burlington. The relief train with provisions has been sent out to the fast mail and overland flyer which is stuck forty miles east of here.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., February 9.—The storm subsided this morning. The west bound passenger trains are blockaded 25 miles east of Cheyenne. A snow plow with two engines sent out at 7 this morning and a work train with 60 shovelers. The snow is very deep but it is thought trains will come in this evening. Yesterday's No. 3 was abandoned at Omaha. There is no trouble west of Cheyenne. The rotary snow plow will be sent over the Cheyenne & Northern this morning. The Burlington train due here this afternoon is blockaded 25 miles west of Holyoke.

Suffering in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., February 9.—The storm ceased last night all over Nebraska and was succeeded by a severe cold and at 7 o'clock this morning it was 5 degrees below zero but now it is moderating. Railroad trains are still considerably behind time but the tracks are being rapidly cleared. Reports from the frontier counties predict that there will be much suffering and many cattle will perish.

Specials to the Bee show a number of men were lost during the blizzard. The wife of Milton Cummings, a farmer near Rushville, who started from the town for her home Saturday was found dead in her buggy to day within forty rods of a neighbor's house. Eddie Ches-

Death.

RAPID CITY, S. D., February 9.—The [illegible] and the survivors of [illegible] and nine [illegible] A man named [illegible] Elk Creek at [illegible] Saturday were found at the [illegible] Deadwood. All the men are [illegible] cannot be reached. [illegible] Saturday and the two bodies found Sunday and the two bodies found [illegible] the only deaths. Now [illegible] are reported.

RAPID CITY, February 9.—The names of the young man and woman who perished on Box Elder divide on Saturday were Grant Bay and Young respectively and Miss M. Gray a school teacher living at Stoney Creek county. Dr. [illegible] and wife of Rio City reported [illegible] arrived in this city this afternoon.

To Stop Runaways.

CHICAGO, February 9.—A carriage drawn by a pair of spirited horses that [illegible] day afternoon at a furious gallop made a number of pedestrians halt in anxiety for the welfare of the lone passenger who sat in the vehicle. No driver was on the box and the lines hung slack on the horses. A block had been traversed when for no apparent cause the plunging horses threw themselves on their haunches and came to a sudden stand still. The man inside opened the carriage door, stepped out with a smile on his face, and said to a News reporter who had been watching the progress of the runaway team, "Don't you think it works pretty well?" It was a liveryman who claims to have invented a press button electrical contrivance by which a runaway team may be stopped instanter.

Beneath the driver's box a two volt dry battery is located in the top of which are inserted three copper pegs that project from the ends of the lines. Running inside the lines are copper wires forming a circuit through the horse's nose by two small polished balls of aluminum which press tightly against the inner sides of the nostrils. The circuit is opened and closed by means of two buttons, one of which can be operated by the driver. Should he be thrown from his seat before he can press the button another button located beneath the seat inside the carriage can be operated by the occupants.

A News man tested the merit of the invention by pressing the button inside the carriage after the horses had been allowed to quicken their pace to a run. It apparently worked like a charm. Similar tests on North Park boulevard drew a large crowd, and the success attending the exhibition drew out much applause from the spectators.

In addition to his device for stopping runaway teams, Mr. Holson has also patented an electrical stimulator for starting lazy or balky horses and giving them "style." This device is operated through the lines also, the current being applied to the horse's sides by copper plates in the back band. As a humane invention, dispensing with the use of whips and spurs several prominent veterinary surgeons have endorsed the device.

Republican Conference.

WASHINGTON, February 9.—A meeting of about fifteen republican representatives, including free coinage men and those holding more conservative views on the subject was held at the house of Representative Townsend of Colorado to night to discuss the present phase of the senate silver bill and the prospects of getting the silver question before the house in some shape. While the extreme silver men were unwilling to accept anything that did not embody the free coinage idea, several more conservative measures were discussed, among them the free coinage of the American product, and a plan of campaign by which it is proposed to bring the house to a vote upon the silver question, was outlined, though not formally agreed upon.

Less Promising Prospects.

LONDON, February 9.—In a letter to the chairman of the Irish leadership committee of Dublin Mr. Parnell says: "I wish to inform your committee that the prospects of a settlement are less promising than they appeared at the beginning of last week. I shall, however, continue to do everything in my power to re unite Ireland while safeguarding the national interest. I trust your committee and similar bodies will not relax their exertions in my behalf."

A Two-Round Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, February 9.—Billy Woods of Denver, and Mike Conley, the Ithaca giant, fought to night at the Audubon athletic rooms for a purse of $1000. $750 to the winner and $250 to the loser. Instructor Duffy, of the Audubon, was selected as the referee. Woods was seconded by Bob Fitzsimmons and Bob Carroll while Professor John Clark and Tom Casey looked after Mike Conley.

In the first round Conley landed a right hander on Woods' ribs after which Woods smashed Conley on the jaw with his left and rattled him. He then caught him on the chin with his right and landed him in a heap. Conley clinched to avoid punishment. In the second round Woods gave Conley a hard one on the nose and followed it with a knock down. As Conley arose he reeled a little and received another on the jaw and was knocked out.

Stanley Will Keep Them.

CLEVELAND, O., February 9.—The story telegraphed from here today in diverse directions that Stanley the explorer proposed giving all the presents he had received from crowned heads and others, consisting of diamonds etc. to General Booth for the Salvation Army is a piece of fiction. At Akron, Ohio, where Stanley lectured to night, he informed an Associated press reporter that he "did not know anything about it" and denied the story in all its details.

A Veteran Dead.

ALBANY, N. Y., February 9.—Benjamin Fuller died yesterday at his home in the suburbs in this city. The deceased was a messmate of the celebrated Davy Crockett during the war between Texas and Mexico, for the former's independence. He was also a veteran of the Mexican and civil war.

Texas Military Posts.

WASHINGTON, February 9.—Senator Reagan to night proposed an amendment to the sundry civil bill, appropriating $50,000 to complete a 12 company military post at Fort Sam Houston, Houston, Texas, and also $764,500 to complete the new 12 company post at El Paso.

The Sioux Conference.

WASHINGTON, February 9.—The conference with the Sioux Indian delegation was resumed this morning by the commissioner of Indian affairs. Commissioner Morgan said he thought he had already heard what was necessary in regard to the past. What was wanted now was to settle their plans for the future. [illegible] to the Indians entitled to receive it which had been cut off in the past. Senator Dawes who was present said if the Indians did their part and were industrious the government would undoubtedly do its part and help them to become self supporting.

The first speaker from the Indian delegation was White Ghost, of the Crow Creek reservation, who spoke of the encroachments of the whites upon the lands of the Indian. The commissioner assured him that he would have that matter fully investigated and remedied. He spoke of the rations of coffee and said that they amounted to only 100 grains a week to each person. He referred to the small ration of bacon issued and said that at a meeting of the delegation yesterday the unanimous decision was reached that they did not want military agents.

When he had finished Commissioner Morgan called the attention of the Indians to the difficulty of getting a correct census of the Indians. He said he wanted the aid of the Indians in getting at truth.

Big Man, of the lower Brule agency, told the commissioner that the white people prevented the Indians from getting fuel and hay. He wanted the agency moved nearer. They needed better school facilities. He complained of the small size of the beef cattle given him for food and humorously attributed it to the defective eyes of the agent.

Little No Heart, from the Cheyenne River agency, said that his people wanted more and larger schools, where their children could learn the white man's ways. He protested against the appointment of military agents.

The commissioner said that inasmuch as nearly all who had spoken had expressed the same desire he wished to learn how many of the members of the delegation were in favor of civil agents and how many in favor of military agents. He asked such of the Indians as preferred civil agents to stand up. With a single exception they all stood up. The only one who preferred military agents was Major Swords, the chief of the Indian police at Pine Ridge agency.

Mad Bear from Standing Rock agency, said his reservation insisted upon more reservation schools. If the schools were located on the reservation their influence would be felt not only by the pupils, but by the parents as well.

Several others spoke but nothing of special interest was elicited. Another conference will be held on Wednesday, when the Indians from the Pine Ridge and Rose Bud agencies will speak.

An Important Strike.

PITTSBURG, February 9.—The great strike in the Connellsville region was inaugurated this morning and by to-morrow every mine and coke works in the region will be closed down. The miners to the number of about 10,000 refused to go to work to day, the only men now working being the coke drawers. There are 6,000 men employed at this work and as soon as they have withdrawn the coke from the ovens they will quit also. The strike is for an advance in wages 2½ cents per ton and against a 10 per cent reduction. Both sides are firm and a long struggle is inevitable.

The workmen offered to continue at the present rate until March 1, provided the operators would arrange a satisfactory scale in the meantime, but this was refused. The independent, or small operators, then made a proposition to their men to pay the old wages until a settlement of the trouble, but this was also rejected and the strike ordered. The operators claim that owing to the depressed condition of the coke and iron trades a reduction is necessary, while on the other hand the workmen say the depression is only temporary and the operators can well afford to pay the increase. There are over 16,000 ovens and 70 coal and coke works in the region.

A Fraudulent Firm.

DENVER, February 9.—The firm of W. H. Mead & Co., who have had an office at No. 48 King block for about three weeks very suddenly disappeared Saturday and have not since been heard of. Their departure was probably prompted by the publication here on the 7th of a Minneapolis dispatch giving an account of the arrest there of a firm fraudulently dealing in lumber and lands by which the purchasers were defrauded of their money. The Mead firm claim to be the agents of the Michigan and Marine Lumber and Milling Co. Their plan was similar to the Minneapolis firm and required the suckers to deposit $25. After a certain length of time they were promised $400 with which they were to go to Oregon and receive up on a timber claim. The company then agreed to purchase the land for $1,000. There can be no doubt but the firm did a rushing business here as a great many besieged the departed office to day.

An Anti Silver Amendment.

WASHINGTON, February 9.—Representative Dingley of Maine offered for reference in the house to day the following resolution as an amendment to the resolution offered a few days ago by Representative Townsend of Colorado intended to cause the silver bill to be brought before the house: "And provided further that whenever any general appropriation bill is under consideration in the house or in committee of the whole on the state of the union, it shall be in order to move as an amendment thereto any bill which has passed the house and been sent to [illegible]

Reported Sale of the Alton.

[illegible] News bureau says: We are confirmed from reliable sources that one of the Chicago and Alton [illegible] interests, probably to the Gould [illegible]. A controlling interest in the stock is now locked up in New York and the price of sale has been practically agreed upon. In the event of a sale the Chicago and Alton will form the Missouri Pacific's entrance into Chicago from Kansas City and St. Louis. It is possible that Gould may make use of the situation to persuade the Atchison to conform to his views. It has been known for three months past that something was brewing in the affairs of the Chicago and Alton company. The issue involved with the programme but now negotiations have been resumed, if not already closed.

The Arkansas Investigation.

ST. LOUIS, February 9.—A Post Dispatch special from Little Rock, Ark., says: Mr. Sevier, chairman of the house committee on ways and means, this morning read a communication from the state treasurer in which that official makes a statement regarding the balances on hand of the various funds. It shows a cash balance on hand of $65,000. The accounts of ex Treasurer Woodruff for his first term are found to be correct as shown by the report of the investigation committee. Three more terms are still to be overhauled.

An Official Denial.

BOSTON, February 9.—At the office of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company here, it is stated that there is no foundation for the report received this morning from Salt Lake City that the Atchison will absorb the Rio Grande Western.

Consul New Denies a Rumor.

LONDON, February 9.—Hon. John C. New, the United States consul here, was asked to day by an Associated press representative if there was any truth in the statement that President Harrison on Thursday last had cabled Mr. New to return immediately to the United States with the view of conferring the treasury portfolio upon Mr. New. The latter said: "I have not received any message from President Harrison. I know nothing about any proposition to offer me the treasury portfolio."

In a further interview in regard to the vacancy in Harrison's cabinet Congressman New said: "I don't expect and I do not desire the treasury portfolio. The post of secretary of the treasury is one of the very greatest labor and responsibility. I am strongly opposed to free coinage."

Fitzsimmons Refuses the Challenge.

NEW ORLEANS, February 9.—Concerning the challenge issued at Chicago on behalf of Jim Hall, the Australian for a fight with Bob Fitzsimmons, the latter says: "Hall is a duffer and I don't propose to fight him or any other man who has been beaten by a man of Owen Sullivan's caliber. Hall does not want to fight me and could not be made to do it. All he wants is to get some good advertising at my expense. I've made Hall quit in five rounds twice, once in public and once in private. The only time he ever made me quit was by agreement in a fake exhibition. I'll pay no attention to the challenge. My next fight will be with Ted Pritchard the English champion."

The President Considering.

NEW YORK, February 9.—The Herald's Washington special says: There are good reasons for the belief that President Harrison is considering John F. Swift, of California, in connection with the treasury portfolio. Mr. Swift is one of the president's intimate friends. It was his intention to give him a place in the cabinet but on his induction into office, and he wouldn't have done so had not the Californian politicians urged the appointment of Mr. Estee, chairman of the last Chicago convention. The president did not want Mr. Estee and so bluntly informed the Californians. But under the circumstances he felt that he could not appoint Mr. Swift and therefore left the coast out of his calculation.

Interesting Religious Ceremony.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., February 9.—The most interesting religious ceremony that has occurred here for years took place yesterday at the convent of the Good Shepherd. There was an immense throng and hundreds could not get into the building. Nearly half of the Catholic clergy in the city and several priests from abroad assisted. Nine young ladies took the black veil of the order forever renouncing the world, and fourteen girls took the white veil, and pronounced their first vows.

Slander Denied.

NEW ORLEANS, February 9.—At the African Methodist conference at Tangipaho yesterday, Bishop Grant made several attacks on Bishop Newman of the Methodist Episcopal church, who recently gave publicity to the charge that great immorality existed among the colored clergy. Bishop Grant pronounced the charge unfounded and denounced Newman for bearing false witness.

No Nomer a Result.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., February 9.—In joint assembly to day one democrat, most of the republicans and all of the Farmers were present. One ballot was taken showing 100 votes for Palmer, no quorum, adjourned.

We publish elsewhere an interview with some of our most substantial Divide citizens in which they give their opinion of the effort to form a new county on the Divide. The whole affair seems to be a scheme of Denver real estate men. We certainly do not want to lose any of our population provided that population is willing to stay with us. So long as such good citizens as Messrs Stout Moon Walker and McFilroy want to stay in the county we certainly ought to help them. We do not believe the legislature would be willing to assist in this provided it appears that a large number of property holders in that part of El Paso county which it is proposed to put into the new Divide county are desirous of remaining in El Paso county.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Bussey has written a letter informing the commissioner of pensions that pension attorneys are sending out circulars to soldiers which are misleading and dishonest. He has directed the commissioner on pensions to order all the attorneys to submit to the pension office all circulars before they are sent out. This is a very important order that ought to have been given a good many years ago. The pension attorneys as a class are unscrupulous and hypocritical. They pose as the soldiers friend simply for the purpose of receiving a large income. The service pension bill is a good example of their scheming. The rich mine of wealth in acting as pension attorneys was not realized until the back pension act became a law. This made several attorneys very rich. As business was running out they wanted a new law and so agitated the service pension. Congress ought to abolish the attorneys altogether and arrange in some way to provide the deserving soldier with his pension without fees of any kind.

AN ASSURED STORY

Denver, Colo., February 4.—Your correspondent, who left for New Castle early yesterday morning, writes that hundreds of families were fleeing for their lives last night. Miles and miles and miles of coal are on fire. The fire will eat into the mountain as mountain after mountain is rapidly burning up. The terrible heat and smoke are almost suffocating. Towns adjoining within a few miles of the conflagration are rapidly moving their household effects. Horses and cattle are stampeding in all directions. Rail roads are running their trains carrying passengers to a place of safety. The Colorado Midland railroad is in the heart of the coal mountains and is a total wreck.

The miraculous escape of hundreds of miners is just being fully realized and it seems like a kind act of Providence that this morning's disaster has not to count the death of hundreds of human beings. The day force had just left the mines and left the shaft for supper while the night shift, numbering several hundred, was just coming outside the shaft when the explosion occurred. Had it happened an hour later it would have been a repetition of the Pennsylvania horror. How much longer the fire will continue it is impossible to say. If all the fire companies in the civilized world were assembled in front of the burning mountains it is doubtful if the flames could be subdued. The residents of Glenwood Springs, a town of 1500 inhabitants, 30 miles from the scene are preparing to seek a more favorable clime. The residents of Leadville, nearly 100 miles from the scene of the conflagration can plainly see the smoke, while the smoke is perceptible here in Denver.

The above dispatch appeared in the Globe Democrat on February 5th. This news will create a greater sensation in New Castle than anywhere else because it will be the first intimation to the people of that town that they have been in such danger. The facts are simply these. There was a fire in a part of the workings but within five hours after it started all the entries were closed and the company had complete control of the fire. There was no damage done outside of the mine except the burning of the fan house, which was located immediately at the mouth of the air shaft. If the fan house had not been burnt the miners would be at work to day. The main workings of the mine are closed down temporarily but in three weeks Mr Anderson the superintendent states there will be as large a force working as ever. It has only put fifty men out of employment. The damage is not great though the company will be put to some trouble and expense. At New Castle the fire has not had any appreciable effect on the business of the town and it is regarded as a very slight accident. The company controls within its workings a many millions of tons of coal that the burning of a few hundred tons in the ground will not be any appreciable loss. It is the coal out of the ground that the company values as the main cost is in getting it out of the ground. All statements in the above dispatch at variance with these or in addition to these are lies. The writer of the above dispatch has eclipsed the fame of Eli Perkins. We do not know who the writer of it is, but we hope the coal company will find out his name and have him indicted for malicious libel. There have been a good many malicious dispatches written to eastern papers lately that have given entirely wrong impressions of Colorado, and it time somebody was punished to show that this lying cannot be indulged in with impunity. The dispatch ought not to have deceived any person who thought twice. It bears the impress of exaggeration throughout and the statement that "the smoke is so dense ible in Denver is too palpably absurd to contradict. Sam Weller thought if he had a pair of patent double million lung nifying gas microscopes of extra power he might be able to see three inches at night of stairs and a deal door. But the writer of the dispatch with the naked eye saw to a distance of two hundred miles through three mountain ranges which in the line of vision were about fifty miles thick.

Decatur County Sufferers

COLORADO SPRINGS, Feb 9, 91.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

It is a part of the mission of the W. C. T. U. to do what would there be left undone. While there are many uncomfortable circumstances in the city, yet very few in danger of starving or freezing, so far as the provisions of life are concerned. There are, however, provisions and clothing cannot be had for the asking, and there is actual danger of starving and freezing to death. The recent account of the widow and her children being found, last was at the ranch of Decatur county, Kansas, near the Nebraska line, where there are nine families within a two miles square needing help. It is from this locality that letters have been received by members of the W. C. T. U. telling of the need and why assistance has not reached that section. The people are living on the Kansas side of the line, but the nearest office address is Lebanon, Neb., and are located 18 and 20 miles from the larger towns where help has been sent and which help does not extend so far into the county. Warm clothing and bedclothing, and shoes for children are the articles that we have not received as many as are needed. Of men's clothing we have quite a supply. Provisions there cannot be too much of, and it seems the hardest to secure contributions for. If not convenient to deliver the packages to 517 East Williamette street they will be called for if a card is sent to that number. It is hoped to be able to send the articles Wednesday morning. Mrs M. F. Gray who recently came from Lebanon will solicit provisions where she is acquainted. It is hoped solicitations will not be necessary.

Fifty First Congress

SENATE

WASHINGTON, February 9.—The credentials of Mr Voorhees for his new senatorial term from March 4th next were presented and placed on file. The credentials of Henry C. Hansbrough as senator elect from the state of North Dakota for the term commencing March 4th next were presented and referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

At 12 o'clock the unfinished business was laid before the senate, which was Mr Harris' motion to lay on the table Mr Blair's motion to reconsider the vote recommending to the committee on education and labor the bill providing for the adjustment of the accounts of laborers workmen and mechanics arising under the eight hour law. The motion to lay on the table was disagreed to, yeas 29, nays 31.

The question recurring on Mr Blair's motion to reconsider Mr Hale suggested that the best way to settle those claims would be to refer them to the accounting officers of the treasury free from the statute of limitation. The question was taken on the motion to reconsider and it was disagreed to—yeas 23, nays 29.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the house copyright bill and Mr Platt who has charge of it made a brief explanation and argument for it. He hoped that the house bill would be passed without amendment. After a long debate the lithographic amendment was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 24.

The senate then took a recess till 8 p m. After recess no quorum appearing the senate without transacting any business adjourned.

HOUSE

After the reading of the journal a rather stormy debate ensued as to the order of business but the house finally went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil bill. While the committee rose the sundry civil bill was passed.

On motion of Mr Brewer of Michigan the senate amendments to the fortification appropriation bill were non concurred in and a conference was ordered. The house then adjourned.

Sisson, T. J. O'Donnell and others. Speaking was continued until 3 o'clock.

A Pair of Tragedies

MILWAUKEE, Wis, February 9.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Chilstonville, Waupaca county, Wis, says: Charles Knox, a resident of Indianapolis, shot and killed his wife and himself one day last week. The bodies were not found until Saturday evening. The face of Mrs Knox was partly eaten off by a cat which was in the room. They did not live happily together and it is supposed the act was done during a quarrel. They were both aged.

North Dakota Hon. H. C. Hansbrough

Henry C. Hansbrough, elected senator from North Dakota at the end of a protracted contest, was born at Prairie du Rocher, Randolph county, Ills, Jan 8, 1848. He received a common school education there and in 1860 went to California where he learned the printer's trade. He was somewhat precocious both in business and politics, for at the age of 22 he published a daily paper in San Francisco, and soon after took a responsible position in The San Francisco Chronicle.

H. C. HANSBROUGH

In 1879 he resigned the position of news editor on The Chronicle and went to Chicago and finally to Dakota, locating at Devils Lake, where he now publishes The Inter Ocean. He took an active part in politics as a Republican and after holding some minor positions was elected to congress in 1888 receiving 2607 votes to 12 006 for Daniel W. Maratta, Democrat. He was chosen senator on the seventeenth ballot, defeating Gilbert A. Pierce, the present senator, who has served but a year.

The Romance of a Novelist

Quite a little romance hangs around the marriage of the daughter of Joseph Jefferson, the famous actor, to Mr Farjeon, the novelist well known in America. Miss Jefferson was married without the knowledge and against the wishes of Farjeon's family, who had wished to marry him to a lady of their own choosing. The bridegroom was at first sight taken aback. They were married after a brief courtship and visited America on their honeymoon. Mr Farjeon is a native of London, and is a New York journalist. He is a Californian. The novel he is at work on is a medium length story, and is fine fringed by all accounts. He writes all his stories on a typewriter. He is a left handed writer, and carries a book in which he pots down his ideas as they strike him.

Opposing Divide County.

Messrs S C Stout E P Moon, Henry R Walker and E P McElroy were in the city yesterday [illegible] over the [illegible] of the new Divide county They are very strongly opposed to any division and think the [illegible] of the prominent residents within the proposed district are against it They give the [illegible] Mr Walker [illegible] with the Denver parties who want a party on the Divide at Palmer Lake and north of Palmer Lake The Denver parties propose to make Palmer Lake the county seat [illegible] A number of prominent men are in favor of it because they think they will get the county seat but would not favor it if they thought it was going to Palmer Lake The signers of the petition for the new county do not represent the permanent residents of the Divide It numbers a good many section hands and non property holders

Among the reasons why these gentlemen do not wish the county divided are the following It will greatly increase the taxes as the new county will have to support county officers and a court administration The new county will not give any commensurate advantage for this extra expense Again as the new county extends west within the boundaries of the proposed Crystal county, a good many people to go to the county seat will be compelled to come down on the McLeod to Colorado Springs and then go north to Palmer Lake or Monument This will subject these people to great deal of trouble and expense in getting to the county seat It will also inconvenience a great many people in the eastern part of the county who now go to the county seat by the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth road as they will be compelled if the change is made to go by rail to Colorado Springs and up to Palmer Lake or Monument They express themselves as having a good deal of sentiment in severing connections with El Paso county Some of them came here before Colorado Springs was founded and one of them, Mr Walker, has been here thirty two years They feel proud of the county and of this city and do not wish to be thrown into other alliances If the new project should go through they would be united with part of Douglas and Jefferson counties, with which they have no interest or special sympathy

How to Pronounce It.

"Poor Kalakaua!" said the man who was toasting his shins at the radiator. "He wasn't half as bad a king as the papers made him"

"That may be true," replied the man in the big brown ulster. "But I notice you pronounce his name Kal-lak-a-wah. I think the right pronunciation is Kalah-ka-wah."

"Very nearly correct," observed the man who was chewing a toothpick. "Kal-a-kah-wah, however, comes a little nearer to it, unless I am much mistaken."

"I have always called it Kal-a-kaw-ah," remarked the hungry looking man in the slouch hat.

"A Sandwich islander wouldn't know whom you meant by that," spoke up the man with the cork leg. "Kal-a-ka-wah is the way to pronounce it."

"Come off!" said the man who had his feet on the table. "What's the matter with Kal-a-ko-ah?"

"Or Kal-a-kah-wah?" suggested the night clerk.

"None of you have hit it yet," piped the fat man with the oily face who was looking over the register. "In Kanaka all the vowels are sounded. The name is Kal-ah-kah-oo-ah."

This broke up the symposium. Chicago Tribune.

Breaking Him Up.

A boy of 8 or 9 years old stood at the corner of Brush and Elizabeth streets the other day with hat up and arms folded. He had three hen's feathers stuck in his cap. He had a bow slung to his back, and in a quiver made of buffalo hide he had three or four arrows. In his left was the family bread knife and in his right hand was a war club. As he thus stood, casting his eagle eye about him, a telegraph boy came along and stopped and looked him over. The inspection lasted a full minute, and then he asked

"Playing Injun?"

"Yes."

"Got a name?"

"Red Cloud."

"Humph! Nogy?"

"What's the matter?"

"You have been eating bread and butter without wiping it off, and forgot to wipe off your mouth. Better stay in the back yard and be a nice boy. You're no big Injun." Detroit Free Press
